The Wutherich & Co. Composite was up 3.5% in August. This compares with the S&P/TSX being up 1.6%.

Most of our companies have reported results for their recent quarters and, by and large, the numbers have been excellent. The market, however, is grudging in rewarding these results. Regardless, they support the valuations of the stocks in our portfolio. Collectively, though they are no longer ridiculously cheap, we still own several inexpensive stocks which should continue to drive long-term returns.

As the summer winds down the conference season winds up! September is always a busy time of year for company presentations. Though I used to enjoy trips to New York, Toronto or further afield to see these, I now enjoy a trip to my computer screen! Regardless, it is a good time for basic research where we hope to uncover one or two names to introduce to the portfolio. Though COVID remains a powerful overhang for any investment, not to mention day-to-day life, we've always had a strong conviction that there are many companies who are capable of surviving these difficult times and are worth owning.

Company Objective

Our goal is to seek prosperity for our clients through participation in stable, growing companies in North America, led by strong management teams that we consider our partners for the next five or more years.

Investment Philosophy

Our style can be described as concentrated, disciplined, long-term growth stock investing. The focus is on established companies that generally have a demonstrated track record in revenue, cash flow or earnings per share growth, with strong managements and solid balance sheets. The current emphasis in the portfolio is on the equity of small to medium capitalization companies, defined roughly as $50 million to $5 billion in market capitalization. The portfolio may include large capitalization companies if the right elements are there. Stocks are bought with a keen eye to valuation, so you're not likely to find many high multiple stocks here. The portfolio will likely maintain a significant percentage in foreign securities, providing exposure to investment returns outside of Canada.

*The Wutherich & Co. performance shown here (using the Time Weighted Rate of Return method) is of a composite which combines the performance of all of the accounts managed by Wutherich & Co. that have been invested according to the Wutherich & Co. Portfolio throughout their history. These accounts vary greatly in the size of assets that they contain and whether or not fees have been deducted directly from the accounts during their history. TSX = S&P/TSX Total Return Index. Due to its large capitalization nature and substantially different sector weightings, this index may not be considered comparable to the Wutherich & Co. Portfolio.
