The Wutherich & Co. Composite was up 10.3% in November. This compares with the S&P/TSX being up 7.5%.

The Wutherich & Company Composite performed well in November with nary a mega-cap technology stock in sight. What it does contain are excellent small to mid-sized companies with reasonable valuations and good long-term prospects. Most just reported their recent quarterly results and, by and large, the numbers were excellent. There is an ongoing disconnect between valuations and fundamentals. Many of our names continue to trade at extremely low valuations despite very strong underlying business characteristics. A difficult geopolitical environment and a general malaise amongst investors may be the cause but one thing that I have learned over my thirty-one years as an investor is that, given time, the fundamentals win out. Of course, geo-political, macro-economic or some other disaster will affect this, but all things being equal, a stock's price will reflect the prospects of its company over time.

In the case of the Wutherich & Company Portfolio, we think this will provide us with excellent long-term performance.

As we head into this holiday season, JF and I would like to wish everyone a Very Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays. Wutherich & Co. Factsheet

Company Objective

Our goal is to seek prosperity for our clients through participation in stable, growing companies in North America, led by strong management teams that we consider our partners for the next five or more years.

Investment Philosophy

Our style can be described as concentrated, disciplined, long-term growth stock investing. The focus is on established companies that generally have a demonstrated track record in revenue, cash flow or earnings per share growth, with strong managements and solid balance sheets. The current emphasis in the portfolio is on the equity of small to medium capitalization companies, defined roughly as $50 million to $5 billion in market capitalization. The portfolio may include large capitalization companies if the right elements are there. Stocks are bought with a keen eye to valuation, so you're not likely to find many high multiple stocks here. The portfolio will likely maintain a significant percentage in foreign securities, providing exposure to investment returns outside of Canada.

*The Wutherich & Co. performance shown here (using the Time Weighted Rate of Return method) is of a composite which combines the performance of all of the accounts managed by Wutherich & Co. that have been invested according to the Wutherich & Co. Portfolio throughout their history. These accounts vary greatly in the size of assets that they contain and whether or not fees have been deducted directly from the accounts during their history.
